Explore the heart of a Volcano – Once in a Lifetime Opportunity

Explore the heart of a Volcano

Thrihnukagigur is the only place on earth where you can enter a magma chamber. It's been over four decades ago since the first man set foot on the moon. But it's only now that humans are offered the chance to see what a volcano looks like on the inside.

The dormant Thrihnukagigur volcano

(Yeah, good luck trying to pronounce it!) is a unique natural phenomenon. By putting up the necessary gear and equipment, we've created a tour that opens the door to a new world. And it really isn't that complicated to experience. All you need is the willingness to finish an easy 40 minute hike (to get to the crater) and the guts to descend 120 meters/400 ft to the bottom of the crater in an open cable lift.

Simply put, Iceland is one giant geological hotspot

The country is one of the most active volcanic regions in the world, with eruptions occurring every 3-4 years on average. But why is Iceland so active? It's mostly due to its location on the Mid-Atlantic Ridge, where the Eurasian and North American Plates are moving apart - and therefore literally opening the earth's crust. In the center of this Ridge sits Thrihnukagigur Volcano.

Take a private boat out to the bay of Faxaflói to see whales in their natural environment. The waters around Iceland can have around 20 species of whales. The whales often surface within a few meters of the boat so you can see them up-close.

Following whale watching, guests can choose to fish direct from the sea. There are many species of fish that can be caught in Icelandic waters such as the Halibut, Monkfish, Mackerel, Saithe, Haddock, Pollack, Ling and Catfish just to mention a few. The crew will prepare the freshly caught fish for dinner onboard. During dinner you will be entertained with music and stories of fishing in the earlier days. You will hear about the history and how hard life could be out on the sea.

Luxury Base Camp Experience –

Our luxury base camp is designed and built for Icelandic weather conditions by Guðmundur Halldórsson one of our most experienced mountain and glacier guides. The camp may only be reserved on a private bases and will be set-up in Thorsmork, the remote glacial valley of the gods with overview of the infamous Eyjafjallajökull volcano.

The dining area is beautifully decorated using icelandic products where your private chef will be preparing a fantastic dinner for you. After dinner you can rest in the lounge area with a cold beverage in your hand.

The sleeping domes all have a king or twin bed with duvet. Each dome has it's own heating system, icelandic products, bed side tables, chair and a rack to hang your clothes.

In the camp you have a sauna where you can relax after a busy day experiencing the Icelandic nature, a hot water shower and a toilet.

Enjoy a complete private set up with gourmet dinner with a private chef arranging a four course luxurious meal with good wines. We decorate the dining table with lava stones and wild plants and heaters and lights giving a cosy atmosphere. Our dinner is a blend of local and French cuisine and is created by one of our best's chefs in Iceland.

You will enjoy a rune reading that is a type of a fortune telling but the Vikings of the old used the runes for magical purposes among other for the runes were believed to be deeply entwined with the heathen gods of the old. This unique experience will give you a better idea of Icelandic nature.

After getting the taste of old times runes it's time for the viking story telling. To make it real one of the strongest men in Iceland will show feats of strength to symbolize the forces of nature.
